QUADRILLE

Quadrille Wallpapers & Fabrics, Inc. was formed in 1969 to design and market wallpapers and fabrics to the interior design trade. Its brands, Quadrille, China Seas, Alan Campbell, Home Couture and Cloth & Paper, areoffered through showrooms and representatives in the US and Europe. Quadrille was started by the noted fashion illustrator J. Hyde Crawford, who created Bonwit Teller's distinctive "violets" logo. Quadrille offers fabrics and wallpapers reflecting a wide range of designs.

In 1996, Quadrille, under the direction of its current owner, John S. Knott, purchased the brands China Seas and Alan Campbell. China Seas offers unique and authentic batiks and island-inspired patterns, while Alan Campbell features the bold graphic prints associated with 60s and 70s. Home Couture is known for its large- scale contemporary offerings and fresh color palette. Our newest line, Cloth & Paper, combines traditional and modern motifs with a fresh approach to scale and texture.

Quadrille's designs have been at the leading edge of the market for interior design fabrics and wallpapers since its inception and have often been featured books by top designers such as Mark D. Sikes, Tom Scheerer, Meg Braff, Amanada Lindroth, and many others. Magazines featuring multiple-page editorials of Quadrille, China Seas, Alan Campbell, and Home Couture fabrics include Architectural Digest, House Beautiful, Traditional Home, Veranda, Elle Decor, and World of Interiors.

Quadrille's fabrics have been used extensively in exclusive hotels and resorts, including Hotel Bel Air, Ritz Carlton Naples, the Soho Grand, Il Pellicano, and the new Grand Hyatt Baha Mar in the Bahamas. Quadrille fabrics and wallpapers were used extensively in luxury retailers Tory Burch and Draper James.
